The Boston & Northern road is doing a very interesting piece of work on Lowell street, Lawrence, in the improvement of their tracks. This is the welding of the rails together by means of electricity. This process makes the rail continuous and does away with the fish plate and copper wire connections besides getting rid of the jounce at the end of every rail.

An effort is being made to complete the furnishing of the rooms used by the Girls' clubs at the Andover Guild house. Any articles such as chairs, tables, mirrors, rugs, or pictures, will be very acceptable. Anyone willing to contribute such articles will please speak to one of the following ladies: Mrs. Walter R. James S. Humbird left half back of the victorious Andover team, has been elected captain of the 1903 eleven. Humbird's home is in Pittsburgh, Pa. The Haverhill & Andover car brought over several good big loads, on Saturday, of football enthusiasts, who went to the Andover-Exeter game. Twenty cars left for Lawrence on the main line, to say nothing of those for Reading. Special trains were run from Exeter and Boston, and a special car came up from Amesbury.

The big victory over Exeter was celebrated enthusiastically Saturday night. As usual the students paraded the streets headed by the band and visited the houses of the members of the faculty, who were called upon for speeches. Vice-President Stearns was given a great ovation. As usual a big bon fire was built on the campus. The celebration passed off in a very orderly manner.

George Riddle has been called "the only reader of the first order now before the public." The first of his course of readings to be given in Andover will be given in Phillips Academy hall, next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Mr. Riddle will present scenes from "The Merchant of Venice," and will conclude the program with a group of lighter selections in which he is equally felicitous.

Quarter back Dillon of the Andover team had his hip injured early in the game with Exeter, Saturday, and his playing was greatly handicapped in consequence. He performed his duties as quarterback in splendid style however, passing the ball accurately, showing excellent judgment in the choice of plays and handling punts well, but he was unable to help out much in the interference or tackling. Thompson was a tower of strength at guard, despite the injury to his head. Bullock was pumelled hard by Exeter and when he was taken out of the game near the end, was in a dazed condition. He was soon all right again, however. All the other members of the team except Guiney, came out of the game in good condition.

Guiney, the centre on this year's eleven at Phillips Academy, was taught how to play centre in about four days. In spite of this he played a remarkably good game and pluckily finished the first half after both ankles had been sprained. He was carried off the field and taken to the Academy building where the team was given advice by Coach Corbin during the intermission between the halves. When the time limit had expired and the team and substitutes trotted out on the field again, he was left alone and forgotten, to suffer from his painfully swollen ankles and listen to the cheering such a short distance away. But as far as any good he was getting from it the game might as well have been in Exeter. It was pretty tough not to have been able to see his team sweep on to victory after working so hard while he was able, for this end, but it was one of the fortunes of football.

Burts of Reading.

Not much light is gained on the origin of the Reading line after close study of court records of Essex and Middlesex. Old Hugh Burt, who figures in Lynn annals as a church sleeper and has divers suits with neighbors on account of broken fences and stray cattle, did not leave any grandsons. He came over in 1635 with wife Ann and "Hugh, Edward, and a friend, perhaps kinsman, Hugh Churchman, appears most closely connected with him, and leaves a legacy to son Edward at death. These boys, besides getting from their father the great grant of salt marsh he had secured in Lynn, had rights in an English estate in Dorking, Surrey County, occupied in 1653 by the widow of Uncle Thomas. Possibly there were other heirs over there who were attracted by the prosperity of cousin Edward. He outlived his brother Hugh, (who left one daughter), was town clerk in Charlestown, and owned shares in vessels built over here, and ventures to Barbadoes, etc. At one time, he made salt with Simon Bradstreet of Andover.

About the time of Philip's War, an old William Burt, over 60, enlisted from Charlestown, and was killed at the Swamp fight. I could not find his heirs, but they applied for town rights in 1735, when Westminster, Mass., was started. Some time after that, a John Burt and wife Mary, who had lived in Beverly, and who had charge of an aged Nicholas Vincent and wife of Manchester, Mass., had some trouble caused by the old man changing his mind, and they had to give up hope of his estate and take a gift of 40 acres and a new house just as good as the one they had put up on Vincent's land in 1694. I could not find any trace of connection between this John and our 'Tom of Salem,' there 1674, in a good house on the Southwick estate, presented by the mother-in-law, widow of John Southwick, who was a Sarah Burrill, once the wife of Samuel Tidd. The house stood near the present bridge above grade in Danvers over the Essex R. R. track. William Russell, who married a daughter of the witch Rebecca Nurse, bought the Southwick estate and agreed to build Burt as good a house, and to pay 20 £. So the old Russell house has Quaker as well as witch haunts, for John Southwick was son of Lawrence and Cassandra, the famous old Quaker of Whittier.

Whether Wm. Russell built the house for him in Reading I cannot tell, but Thomas Burt in 1675, a year later, was buying 100 acres of the Kendall farm in North Reading. John, of Manchester, who came from the Beverly part of Salem, and was called fisherman, possibly was kin to our Tom and both sons of the old William, and all connected in some way with the other Burts of Dorking. Somebody will rise up and solve these conundrums yet. All the children that are recorded in Reading may be of Mary Southwick, but I think Thomas must have married a second Mary. No mother is named in the whole long record at Reading. Thomas has no probate and provides for only two children. He gave 'Thomas, in 1711, at 21, 40 acres near Upton and McIntire, for dutiful behavior and further encouragement, and was still living upon his homestead in 1721, 10 years later, when he and his "now married wife" Mary, died to Ebenezer, the youngest son, then 26, the homestead, (bounds on 'Tom's land.) Ebenezer married Ruth Fiske, and in 1729 bought land in Middleton. Perhaps he and old father Tom got set off into that town, where I did not think to look, and both died there and were buried in one of those forty private burial places once scattered through Middleton woods. Maybe the odd Burts we need were left at the Center under the new grade, when the rest were moved to the Lower End Yard of North Reading. Some new contract for digging up the face of the earth may restore our lost records. The deeds we find seem to be recorded together in 1730, and 'Tom possibly died then. 'Sarah, Elizabeth, 'Martha, born 1680, married Martin Richards in 1714. 'Thomas, born Feb. 8, 1685, died Jan. 23, 1735, in Reading, married Elizabeth Lanford, of Reading, Feb. 11, 1711. 'John, 1687-1689, 'Samuel, 1689, perhaps married Elizabeth Kent, daughter of Col. Richard of Newbury, and was a goldsmith of Boston. 'John, 1692, could marry Abigail Cheever, and be partner of 'Samuel above in the business (not verified). 'Ebenezer on the homestead, 'Benj., 1700, who, disappears.

Tom leaves no probate or any deed, nor is the date or place of death of himself or wife found. One child, 'Sarah, born in Reading 1711, married Joseph Gilbert, of Boston, in 1732. The person who compiled the printed records of Wilmington picked up the date of 'Ben's birth in 1715. He always lived in Wilmington, married Abigail Thompson in 1767, and died in 1793, she in 1795, so possibly that line may have kept family traditions or records that will be recovered. The family here hold traditions of Jacob, 'Joseph, 'Thomas as brothers from Wilmington, and that another line settled in Tewksbury. 'Ben is a witness in 1755 to 'Joseph's purchase of Andover land, the only record connected, but he often lends money to Andover men down to 1785. It seems to insure 'Tom as father to the group, as they all start out into the world from Wilmington. 'Thomas evidently prospered and left his children well equipped. Possibly a study of French War Archives will give others. Neither have I got the record of the Revolution for our Burts, which can be seen at the library in print.

The family of 'Ben, from failure and early death of sons, dwindled down to a 'Jacob, who returned from Tewksbury to Wilmington inheriting from aunts and uncles on double lines about all the estate left there of 'Ben. 'Jonathan perished in the snow at the Andover line December, 1786, at 33, childless. 'Thomas Burt married Esther Brown of Tewksbury in 1768, his brother 'Joseph, who was born about 1730, being 80 at death in 1810, marrying Susanna Thompson in 1753. From these two the greatest number of Burts in our section descend in the line of 'Tom.

'Tom staid in Wilmington near the line and married Uptons and Stanleys. Some went to Reading, where many still live. 'Brown-Burt, born 1763, married Hannah Harnden, and his two sons, 'Brown and 'William, lived together on the Ford farm near Ballard Vale line. 'Hannah, wife of Ben Eames, 'Thomas of Reading, 'Della, wife of Daniel Pratt of Reading, 'Cadwallader Ford, indicate the tribes. 'William Burt, born 1789, died 1860. 'Rebecca Mansur Burt, whose mother was Rebecca Messer of Methuen, married Wm. H. Woodlin, a native of Maryland, son of Dr. Woodlin, and who came here to help lay out railroads, when the B. & M. was started in 1832. While riding on Thanksgiving Day, in 1851, with all his children, he was killed while crossing the Salem track by a passing train, with one small daughter. The horse and all the rest got away safely. Two sons, at least, served in the Civil War, one named Elgin going through marvellous adventures in Southern prisons and many battles, and came home to die on the B. & M. R. R. in time of peace. This line has been foremost in the Vale in all good work.

'Joseph bought the farm of Thomas Haggett in 1755, two years after marriage, and brought with him young Joseph and Susanna, both of whom died early, as did the wife. When he joined our church here in 1756, she possibly was gone, as her name is not given. He married Abiah Moor, eldest daughter of Ben Moor and Abiah Hill, in 1758. The 12 acres of the homestead lay just west of the pond across from the Moor place. Forty acres lay west of the road and two acres in Tewksbury added later much outlying land—he bought in large lots sometime with buildings. People in West Parish had a trick of buying houses and moving them about, so that scarcely an old house on the whole of it stands where it was built. Somebody moved a barn once across the pond on the ice. The Burt house, well placed, has always stood firm where Haggett built his.

In 1764, Burt and Moor were partners in the purchase of a sawmill and wood lots on the Merrimac. These Burts were always safe, comfortable partners. In 1770, the name is first spelled Burt in a deed owing possibly to a fashion. From all I glean of Burts, I conclude they were slow to wrath, and equally slow to forget, but singularly just and conscientious. The will, made 1794, was probated sixteen years later, and left an estate of $6000, large for that day and place. Eight children were named, John, Fanny Moor and Hannah baptized in the South church dying early. The wife, who died 1828, was to have the east end next the pond, "unless the new room which is proposed" is added. Later, two rooms were added by Ebenezer, and since then torn down and a new west room built. The son, 'Joseph, already married to Mary Carleton, was settled on the Wood Hill end of the estate, where Sylvester Lovejoy lived later. Here his family grew up, 'Emma, wife of Ephraim Kendall, 'Joseph of Milford, N. H., 'John of Lawrence, 'Seth of Dracut, 'Ben of Milford.

Three daughters of 'Joseph married Dana-neighbors, and moved toward

Bad Taste in the Mouth

When you get up in the morning with a coated tongue and a bad taste in the mouth, you may or may not be seriously ill, but if there is any disease going, your system is just right to catch it.

We know what you think—first you are half persuaded to try Vinol, and then you say to yourself: "That's the same story all the medicines tell; I've heard it before."

But Vinol is not like other medicines. If it were, we shouldn't be talking about it in any special way. If you will regulate your bowels with Vinol and take Vinol to improve your digestion and assimilation of food, these troubles, with the headache, "liver complaint," neuralgia, rheumatic pains, and nerve troubles will disappear as by magic.

We pay back the money if it doesn't help you.

Danville, Vt., with Elizabeth, wife of Samuel Clark, later in Stanstead, Canada, and Lois, wife of Thomas Blanchard. Only 'Sarah, who married John Foster, held on here. A son, 'John, was a partner with his cousin, 'Henry Burt, both marrying sisters named Harding, and living in the house on Elm street many years. These, familiar in my childhood, helped the cause of Universalism dear to my father's heart, and the daughters of the two families were worshipped by the childish hearts of the small Sunday School as models and children can always be relied upon. 'Jedediah Burt carried out the will of the father, and was himself blessed with sons who honored him, 'Jedediah, with Mary Needham, on the homestead, 'William, 'Henry in business at the Center, 'Joseph I have down as a Baptist clergyman, chaplain at the state almshouse, and editor of the "Christian Era". His mother was Sarah, daughter of Thomas Manning and Mehitabel Kidder, which may account for his departure from the Burt precedents.

'Jedediah had three sons in the Civil War. 'William, 'Edward, 'Florence has just begun the first new home of her generation. The old homestead is the most restful place I have yet invaded as a historian, and though forbidden to tell the story of the good work done in the Parish and district by those long resident there, what is written by them all unconsciously cannot be cut out from our hearts. Some townsmen give us schools, libraries and art work, and these we grasp eagerly and straightway forget who gave. These Burt neighbors have always given themselves day by day. The latchstring is always out, and no matter how dark the outlook or heavy the load, we have found the sunny face and the word of cheer kept ready for those who came in, while from the window rare blossoms lighten the feet of the passing stranger. Long after the books are finished, we shall open again to thank them for help over hard places.

A recount of the votes cast for councilman in ward five in the Republican caucus was held at the rooms of the Republican city committee last evening. The recount gives Councilman Fitzgerald a renomination by two votes, whereas by the original count he was tied with E. O. Mosher.

On the recount Ashton gained four, Currier gained one, Fitzgerald gained one, Hanson lost three, Hill gained one, Mosher lost one, Tetler's count was not changed and Blank lost three. The figures were as follows:

COUNTY NEWS.

There are now but four small pox patients at the Salem hospital.

R. H. Perkins of Gloucester had a splinter removed from his throat this week.

Charles N. Kelley will be the Democratic candidate for the majority in Haverhill.

Wallace Bates of Lynn is "mentioned" as a candidate for the majority of that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Pool of Gloucester observed the 50th anniversary of their marriage Sunday.

Joseph N. Peterson it is said, will be a candidate in the Republican caucus for the Republican nomination for mayor of Salem.

The new hospital buildings at Salem commenced last spring, are almost completed, and probably are the finest of their kind in this section of the state.

Benjamin J. Corless has been endorsed by the Democrats of Gloucester as their mayoralty candidate, and will head the party ticket to be put in the field this year.

Edward Wier attempted suicide at Nahant beach Saturday by walking out into the water. He was saved by Patrick E. Barry, a member of the Metropolitan Park police.

A weird looking figure in white, standing in the Swampscott cemetery with a lantern is what startled some electric car men the other night. The police are now investigating.

Gloucester was without water for about 12 hours Sunday because of a break in the big main opposite the Surfside house. Travel on the Gloucester, Beverly and Essex road was badly interrupted.

Richard Newell of West Newbury petitioned for a recount of the ballots cast in the representative fight in ward six, Newburyport. When the meeting was called to order, objection was made that the petition for recount did not comply with the law. This was found to be true and it was denied. The time for filing petitions for recounts has expired.

Last Night of Fair.

Better, much better, was the attendance at the second night of the Grange fair on last week Friday, and it may be truly claimed that the fair was a great success. The experiment, (for it was in the nature of an experiment to hold the fair at the Grange hall), turned out very satisfactorily, and it is a question if the same plan may not be adhered to next year.

How popular were the turkey suppers may be judged from the fact that when the fair closed Friday night there was just enough turkey left out of a big supply to serve two more suppers. All the goods at the various tables were well disposed of and almost nothing left to go to waste. The auction following the fair cleaned up all that remained to be sold, and then the hall was cleared for dancing. Newton's orchestra, which had been playing during the evening, furnished the music and dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

Following are the names of those who won the prizes: Seeds in package, hat from One Price Clothing company, Philip Moor; seeds in squash, 535, guess 540, hat from Bicknell Brothers, Henry G. Hardy; peanuts in bottle, sofa pillow, John Madison; seeds in crook neck squash, 528, guess 537; cord of wood, Luella Phelps; seeds in squash, shoes, tie between Nathan Bailey, S. H. Bailey, and F. E. Bailey; beans in bottle, carving set, Madeleine Hewes; seeds in squash, vegetable display, George Carter; beans in bottle, pair of blankets, tie between Bertha Chandler, J. Warren Moor and J. H. Abbott, who each guessed 50 seeds, won by J. Warren Moor.

PRINCIPAL RESIGNS.

Punchard's Head Gives Up His Position and Later Changes His Mind.

Startling by its suddenness, the resignation of Principal Frank O. Baldwin of Punchard, on account of ill health, his start for New York on Tuesday morning before his resignation became known to anybody, his subsequent withdrawal of his resignation and return to resume his work, all has taken place so quickly that Andover people have not yet recovered from their surprise and are awaiting the next move with interest.

The causes of the resignation are laid to overwork and worry, added to which was the grief over the loss of his son Ralph, who died only a few months ago in the West, having been obliged to give up his studies at Dartmouth and go West for his health. That Mr. Baldwin was laboring under a considerable strain has been known to his family for some time altho' he showed few signs to friends and pupils of the impending breakdown, but that he contemplated a resignation and withdrawal from Andover, not even his wife or daughter were aware of. This year's changes in the curriculum have made more planning and work for the principal, which he has attended to conscientiously as he has all his school work since his commencement of the work of principal in 1889, which has been continuous since then with the exception of a year spent in Baltimore. Very few, if anyone, realized that he had been working so close to his extreme limit.

The first intimation of his intended withdrawal from the principalship at Punchard came on Tuesday morning when, some little while after his usual time of reaching school, it was decided to send to his home to see if he was ill. Then it was found that he had started for school at his usual time and nothing out of the ordinary about Mr. Baldwin's actions or words would have led anybody to suppose that he contemplated leaving town. But instead of going toward the school he went along Salem street to Main and started to walk towards Reading. On the way to school were several of his pupils whom he greeted pleasantly as he met them. When the quarter of eight Reading car overtook him, he boarded it and proceeded to Boston via Reading.

When it was discovered that Mr. Baldwin had left town, Supt. Palmer, of the Public Schools, and Rev. Frederic Palmer, of the board of trustees, were notified and they in turn notified Chief Frye, who started for Lynn as quickly as possible and called upon Mr. Baldwin's brother to learn if he had any tidings of him. The brother had heard or seen nothing of him, however, but while there Chief Frye received a telephone message that Mr. Baldwin had written home to his wife, the letter giving as the reason of his leaving town that he was going to New York to recuperate. It seems that Mrs. Baldwin had repeatedly urged her husband to take a vacation, but he had thought himself capable of holding out until the Christmas recess, when it was planned that a visit should be made upon relatives in New York where Mr. Baldwin could have absolute rest. His sudden start was evidently a recognition of his immediate needs. His breakdown and resignation was deeply regretted by scores of friends when they learned of it Tuesday and they anxiously awaited news of his whereabouts, which, fortunately, was not long delayed. To Supt. Palmer Mr. Baldwin wrote the same afternoon sending his resignation.

On Wednesday, Mrs. Baldwin received a telegram from her husband stating that he would be home that evening. His resignation was withdrawn by him the same day in telegrams to Supt. Palmer and Rev. Frederic Palmer, the telegrams also stating that he would be home Wednesday night ready to continue his duties Thursday morning. Mr. Baldwin has not yet gone back to school, but is visiting relatives in Lynn.

Former P. A. Football Captain.

Much regret has been felt in town on account of the death of John A. Collins, of South Lawrence, which occurred late last Saturday afternoon. His death was the result of an accident whereby he lost his left leg by being struck by a shifter at the north end of the Falls bridge. He was returning from a dance when the shifter struck him and knocked him in front of a freight train. The wheels passed over his left leg near the knee, severing the member and fearfully lacerating the flesh. The victim of the accident did not lose consciousness, but tried to crawl away. A half an hour or so afterward he was found by two brakemen, and conveyed to the hospital where, his leg was amputated. He did not regain consciousness after the influence of ether. Collins was a well known football player at Andover, participating in the '98, '99, '00 Andover-Exeter games, the last time as captain. That year his team was beaten 10 to 0, but in the preceding year he contributed a goodly part toward Exeter's defeat, 17 to 0. In '98, the game was a 0 to 0 one. Since leaving Andover he has been at Princeton preparatory school and at Princeton this year. The funeral, Tuesday, was attended by delegations from Andover, Princeton, and from several organizations in Lawrence. The football team at Andover and numerous individuals in town sent flowers. It seemed peculiarly sad that he should be struggling for life in the greatest of all games, while on the gridiron in Andover his former school's representatives were fighting as he had fought there two years before. But unlike theirs, his was, in one sense, a losing fight.

An alarm of fire at 9 o'clock Wednesday evening from box 52 called the fire department to a slight blaze in the grove back of the Moses Foster estate. Burning leaves had set fire to some brush. The blaze was extinguished before any damage had been done. The fire was near Mrs. Foster's barn and when it was discovered some one telephoned to the engine house and the alarm was rung in from there.

BASKET BALL

Punchard, 4; Lowell Normal, 3.

The Lowell Normal Basket Ball team was defeated in a hard fought game by the Punchard girls, at Lowell, on last Friday afternoon, by a score of 4 to 3.

The game was hotly contested from start to finish and proved a most exciting one to the audience, as it was uncertain which team would be victorious until the last whistle called time.

The Normal School has a strong team working as a unit under their efficient captain, Miss O'Sullivan, and has the distinction of never having been defeated except by the Punchard team.

Punchard may well be proud of the courtesy and skill of her basket ball team, which works under many disadvantages, having no physical director or gymnasium. They have acquired their skill by faithfulness in practice and by strong team work.

After the game the Normal girls entertained the visitors with refreshments and dancing.

The line-up: Punchard—Katherine Moynihan (capt.), goal thrower; Maud Meader, forward; Grace Coyne, right center; Sally Pratt, center; Clara Clemmons, left center; Dorrice Downing, guard; Lydia Clark, back. Normal—Mary O'Sullivan (capt.), forward; Helen Sawyer, goal thrower; Miss Smith, left center; Rosalie Roach, center; Gertrude Fox, right center; Louise O'Connell, back; Elizabeth Provencher, guard. Goals thrown by Helen Sawyer on fouls 1, by Katherine Moynihan on fouls 4. Tree throw by Miss Sawyer 1. Umpire, Miss D. Logan. Referee, Mr. Meister. Line-men, Miss F. Lindsay and Miss Annie Dunn. Timekeepers, Miss B. Coutts and Mr. Bixby.

Obituary.

MRS. LYDIA STANLEY

Mrs. Lydia Stanley, wife of R. R. Stanley, of Andover, died suddenly about 5 o'clock, Tuesday morning.

The deceased retired about 9 o'clock in the best of health and upon awakening shortly before 5 a. m., was apparently in the same condition. Just as she was arising, however, she was taken ill and before the elapse of 60 seconds, had passed to the great beyond.

Mrs. Stanley was born in the county of Cork, Ireland, in 1838, where she had lived until within six years ago when the family moved to this country. She was a woman of the highest worth and strength of character, quiet and unassuming in manner and a refined and gentle spirit spoke in her every communication.

She leaves to mourn for her besides a husband, seven sons and three daughters, namely, George, David, a clergyman in Maine, William, Robert and James of Methuen, Joseph of Andover, and Francis John of the United States navy. The daughters are Mrs. Mary Allet of Winthrop and Misses Dora and Lydia of Andover.

The services were held at Christ church Thursday afternoon, Rev. Frederic Palmer of the Episcopal church, officiating. Interment was in the Spring Grove cemetery. The deepest sympathy of the community goes out to the husband and family.

Drew, 1194

Alexander L. Grant swept the city Monday night at the Republican caucus, receiving a majority of 1099 over Robert F. Pickels in the contest for the Republican mayoralty nomination. Mr. Grant carried every ward.

The caucuses were the biggest ever held by the local Republicans, 3107 votes being cast. This vote added to the number who voted at the Democratic caucuses Saturday night shows that nearly 80 per cent of the total number of voters in the city participated in the municipal caucuses, a record unprecedented.

Alderman William P. White was defeated for renomination by Otto F. Kress whose majority was 911. White carried ward three, but lost all the other wards. Councilman Andrew W. Campbell secured the aldermanic nomination in ward six by defeating Harmon T. Drew by a vote of 1511 to 1194. In ward one Richard Koerner, president of the common council, was defeated for renomination and in ward five Priestly-Fitzgerald was defeated for renomination to the common council by two votes. A recount will be held.

No councilmanic nominations were made in wards three and four and no nominations for the school committee were made in ward one. These vacancies will be filled by the city committee.

STEPPED AGAINST A HOT STOVE.

A child of Mrs. George T. Benson, when getting his usual Saturday night bath, stepped back against a hot stove which burned him severely. The child was in great agony and his mother could do nothing to pacify him. Remembering that she had a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house, she thought she would try it. In less than half an hour after applying it the child was quiet and asleep, and in less than two weeks was well. Mrs. Benson is a well known resident of Kellar, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment and especially valuable for burns, bruises and sprains. For sale by E. M. & W. A. Allen, Andover.

A CHANGE OF ONLY THREE VOTES

The recount of the votes cast at the state election for representatives in the sixth district and seventh, was held in the common council chamber at city hall Tuesday. The vote of wards one and two was recounted and the result showed no material change in the contest between John H. Spinlow and Otto Mueller. Spinlow made a net gain of two. He lost one vote and Mueller lost three. By the recount Mueller received 1254 votes in Lawrence and Spinlow 982. The Methuen vote which gave Spinlow 491 and Mueller 170, made Spinlow's total 1474 and Mueller's 1427, a majority of 47 for Spinlow. With the two votes added by the recount Spinlow's majority is now 49.

BLOOD WINE
KILLS DISEASE GERMS

It is true that "Blood Wine" is a wonderful medicine. Wonderful, because of its great breadth of cures. "Blood Wine," soon to be America's most widely known and popular medicine, kills the germs of disease that are in the blood. All diseases that have their origin in the blood or that are spread by germs, come under the curative powers of this great French discovery. "Blood Wine" is the medicine for you to get today; take it now, before the diseases of winter weather are upon you; before you are in the grasp of rheumatism, grip, lung trouble, kidney disorder and many other diseases so common to the American people. "Blood Wine" cures.

CURES RHEUMATISM
Because it removes the poisons from the blood. It abstracts the acids; dissolves the salts; breaks up the joints and stops the pain. Read the following from Mr. F. S. Talmadge of 78 Woodside St., Springfield, Mass.

"My son Elton had suffered for a long time with an aggravated case of rheumatism, which caused him most intense pain, and which daily grew worse in spite of careful medical treatment.

"Many remedies were suggested, and were given a careful trial, but without good result. A friend recommended 'Blood Wine,' and although our experience with other preparations had been such as to cause us to doubt whether it would benefit him or not, we were delighted to find that, after Elton had taken two bottles he showed signs of improvement; and now, after having taken several bottles more, he is well and strong again. I cannot say too much in favor of 'Blood Wine,' and heartily recommend it to all suffering from rheumatism."

CURED OF CONSUMPTION
"Last winter I caught a cold which settled on my lungs, and for weeks I was unable to get out of the house. As spring drew near, the cold wore off, but left me with a rasping cough, which caused me the greatest alarm. Nothing seemed to stop it; physicians told me that I had developed consumption, and that they could do little for me, except to make my life easier unless I should go to another climate. I was very weak, my skin feverish and my appetite absolutely gone. A friend advised me to try 'Blood Wine,' and from the very first it helped me. My strength came back slowly but surely. I began to enjoy my food. Life became worth living, and today I am absolutely well.

WAS ALMOST DEAD WITH KIDNEY TROUBLE
He also had liver complaint and was a total wreck. This was the condition of J. R. Stickle of Tiffin, Ohio, when he ran across "Blood Wine." He says:

"I have been a sufferer from general debility, liver and kidney complaint, chills and fever, headache and lameness of the joints, cold hands and feet. I was a physical wreck; had been treated by some of the good doctors as could be found, and taken nearly all kinds of patent medicines, but it all availed nothing. I have spent hundreds of dollars trying to find a cure. This is a case of twenty years' standing. I got so far gone that I could not work more than six or eight hours per day, when I would become perfectly exhausted. I was recommended by Messrs. Olyne & Larey to try 'Blood Wine,' which I am glad to state has proved very satisfactory. I have gained strength, health, vigor, and am able to carry on my daily labor with the greatest ease. I would say that if this should reach the eyes of any sufferers from such complaints they should try 'Blood Wine,' which is a safe and a sure cure, full of toning value, without danger of disturbing the action of the heart or stomach."

FREE BLOOD TEST.
You can have an expert bacteriologist examine your blood under the microscope and give you a thorough and authentic report of what your blood contains, free of charge, by sending your name to the Louis Daudelin Co., Worcester, Mass. Don't neglect this opportunity. It was never offered to the public before. Remember that the blood reveals all. "Blood Wine" costs fifty cents a bottle.

READ LIKE MIRACLES
Mrs. Irving Mack, of Cambridge, Mass., says:

"I had the grip, and it left me a perfect wreck. My appetite was all gone, my nerves were all unstrung. I was wasted to a skeleton. Everybody said to me, 'You look like a ghost.' I couldn't sleep. I struggled against my sufferings, despite their growing intensity, but I failed completely, and I made up my mind that unless I soon received help I must die. The medicines I took seemed to do me no good, and I was truly a pitiable object. I was white as a sheet and so weak I could hardly walk along the street without staggering. My friends were constantly telling me that I had consumption or some mysterious incurable disease. At length, through the blessing of Divine Providence, I heard of the discovery of a medicine which would do wonderful things. This medicine was 'Blood Wine.' I sent for some of it and began to take it, and the result was simply marvelous. As true as I live, that medicine alone entirely cured me and made me a well woman. Lots of my neighbors who know all about it will stand by me in everything I have said. My health now is excellent and I do my work with a light heart and a strong body."

This little gift that we make to you tonight is not sufficient to show how we love you dear in our hearts, nor can we find words strong enough to express it, but as this card contains nothing but matter, material things must be made use of to express our feelings.

"Accept then this little offering from your friends who all wish you success in your new vocation. And as the minister of God blessed you when you were united in marriage at the foot of the altar, so we also pray that He may bless you in your wedded life and make you prosperous as much in wealth as in virtue. Such are the wishes accompanying this little gift."

After this game was played. The party was served with refreshments, during the evening and a very pleasant time was had by all.

The names of the donors follow: F. St. Pierre, J. Lapsy, F. Tojans, F. Bloodgit, Thompson, J. Q. Hill, J. Hill, B. Hill, and Peal brothers.

FUNERAL OF JOHN A. COLLINS.

The late residence of John A. Collins was thronged with friends, associates and relatives Tuesday morning for a number of hours prior to the hour set for the last earthly rites.

The remains were encoined in a beautiful casket, colored casket, trimmed with silk and decorated with silver with extension bar handles. The casket was of the open casket variety and the beloved features of the deceased were viewed by hundreds during the time the body lay in state.

The plate upon the lid bore the simple inscription:

JOHN A. COLLINS.

Surrounding the bier were a great number of beautiful floral tributes from the many friends of the deceased, as well as organizations to which he belonged and friends of the bereaved.

James Donnelly of Lowell rendered vocal selections during the mass. At the offertory he sang "De Profundis," and at the close of the mass, "He Wipes the Tear Away." As the body was being borne from the church he rendered "Nearer My God to Thee."

After the services at the church the remains were borne outside, and as the solemn tones of the Angelus rang out the funeral proceeded to St. Mary's cemetery where with the usual committal rites the body was interred in the family lot.

The pall bearers were Dr. Patrick J. Hughes of Malden, Dr. William Collins of New York city, Attorney Michael P. Cronin, Joseph E. Healey of New York, John J. Mahoney of Harvard college, James J. Dineen, Daniel J. Mahoney of Washington, and Edward Langlan.
